CORRECTION

Programming Code–Related Errors: In the Research Letter titled “Treatment of Opioid Use Disorder Among Commercially Insured Patients in the Context of the COVID-19 Pandemic,”1 published in the December 15, 2020, issue of JAMA, a programming code error led to incorrect data reported throughout the Results section, the Figure, the Table, and the eTable in the Supplement. The main findings did not change. This article was corrected online.

Error in Figure: The JAMA Diagnostic Test Interpretation titled “Evaluation of Hypokalemia,”1 published in the March 23/30, 2021, issue of JAMA, included an error in the Figure identifying acute intracellular sodium shift as a potential readily identifiable cause of hypokalemia. This was corrected to instead include acute intracellular potassium shift as a readily identifiable cause of hypokalemia. All other information in the Figure was correct and is unchanged.

Guidelines for Letters

Letters discussing a recent JAMA article should be submitted within 4 weeks of the article’s publication in print. Letters received after 4 weeks will rarely be considered. Letters should not exceed 400 words of text and 5 references and may have no more than 3 authors. Letters reporting original research should not exceed 600 words of text and 6 references and may have no more than 7 authors. They may include up to 2 tables or figures but online supplementary material is not allowed. All letters should include a word count. Letters must not duplicate other material published or submitted for publication. Letters not meeting these specifications are generally not considered. Letters being considered for publication ordinarily will be sent to the authors of the JAMA article, who will be given the opportunity to reply. Letters will be published at the discretion of the editors and are subject to abridgement and editing. Further instructions can be found at http://jamanetwork.com/journals/jama/pages/instructions-for-authors. A signed statement for authorship criteria and responsibility, financial disclosure, copyright transfer, and acknowledgment are required before publication. Letters should be submitted via the JAMA online submission and review system at https://manuscripts.jama.com. For technical assistance, please contact jama-letters@jamanetwork.org.
