Error in Results: The Original Investigation titled "α2-Adrenergic Agonists or Stimulants for Preschool-Age Children With Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder," published in the May 4, 2021, issue of JAMA, included an error in the Results section that indicated an incorrect number of children who received behavioral therapy before medication initiation. This included indicating that 309, rather than 225, children received behavioral therapy prior to initiation of medication in the Results and Table 1. These values have been corrected to indicate that 89 children in the α2-adrenergic agonist group and 136 in the stimulant group received behavioral therapy prior to medication initiation. (All other information in the Results and Table 1 was correct and is unchanged.) This article was corrected online.

Editorial on Screening for Chlamydia and Gonorrhea Corrected: The Editorial titled "Screening for Chlamydia and Gonorrhea," published in the September 14, 2021, issue of JAMA, has been updated to fix the year of the initial USPSTF recommendation; wording in 3 other paragraphs; and the correct citation for reference 2. This article was corrected online.

Guidelines for Letters

Letters discussing a recent JAMA article should be submitted within 4 weeks of the article’s publication in print. Letters received after 4 weeks will rarely be considered. Letters should not exceed 400 words of text and 5 references and may have no more than 3 authors. Letters reporting original research should not exceed 600 words of text and 6 references and may have no more than 7 authors. They may include up to 2 tables or figures but online supplementary material is not allowed. All letters should include a word count. Letters must not duplicate other material published or submitted for publication. Letters not meeting these specifications are generally not considered. Letters being considered for publication ordinarily will be sent to the authors of the JAMA article, who will be given the opportunity to reply. Letters will be published at the discretion of the editors and are subject to abridgment and editing. Further instructions can be found at http://jamanetwork.com/journals/jama/pages/instructions-for-authors. A signed statement for authorship criteria and responsibility, financial disclosure, copyright transfer, and acknowledgment are required before publication. Letters should be submitted via the JAMA online submission and review system at https://manuscripts.jama.com. For technical assistance, please contact jama-letters@jamanetwork.org.
