JAMA Dermatology

Mission Statement JAMA Dermatology publishes information concerning the skin, its diseases, and their treatment, in an effort to elucidate the structure and function of the skin and its diseases to improve the quality of life of patients with skin disorders. This journal has a particular interest in publishing clinical and laboratory studies that reveal new information pertinent to the interests and needs of the medical dermatologist, dermatologic surgeons, and all those concerned with state-of-the-art care of cutaneous disease. We believe that knowledge derived from well-designed clinical trials and studies of cost-effectiveness are especially important for improving the practice of dermatology. Studies that increase the understanding of the outcome of treatment or the means by which the burden of cutaneous disease can be reduced and promoted to the health of patients with skin diseases will receive special priority. The journal regularly publishes original articles, clinical reviews, editorials, and reviews. It also features reports and discussions on contemporaneous dermatologic, clinical disorders of unique didactic value, pharmacologic, medical, and surgical therapeutics; and ethical, moral, socioeconomic, and political issues.
