Mission Statement
JAMA Dermatology publishes information concerning the skin, its diseases, and their treatment. Its mission is to explicate the structure and function of the skin, to provide the clinician with the knowledge needed to diagnose and treat skin disorders, and to educate those concerned with the art of skin care. We believe that knowledge derived from well-designed clinical trials and studies of cost-effectiveness are especially important for improving the practice of dermatology and surgical care of patients with skin disease. The journal regularly publishes reports on clinical investigations, editorials, and reviews. It also features reports and discussions on the effectiveness of medical, surgical, and therapeutic approaches, as well as on social, political, and ethical issues.
