Error in Discussion

In the Research Letter titled "Trends in Electronic Cigarette Use Among US Adults With a History of Cardiovascular Disease," published August 15, 2023, there were errors in the years reported in the Discussion. These should have appeared as "...e-cigarette use in patients with CVD decreased from 2014 to 2019..." and "...the use of e-cigarettes rebounded in 2020..." This article has been corrected.¹
